

Motivational Work: The Motivational Relation

By Per Revstedt

Createspace, United States, 2014. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .The book fills a vacuum in theory and method. Motivational work is an approach designed to help people who are considered to be unmotivated and hopeless. Most personnel contacts are based on the client/patient being motivated to some degree, i.e. that he or she wants to cooperate constructively and accept help. When you expect constructive cooperation from clients/patients, you only reach the group that is relatively functional. This leads to the motivation paradox: the clients/patients who have the greatest need of support receive the least. Motivational work tries to resolve this paradox, so that those who are most in need actually receive help. Part two of Motivational Work is about the motivational relation. It includes a description of what this relation should include. It is emotional energy that the latently motivated person wants as a response to his contact rebuses. As well as the motivational relation, there is also a demotivational relation. The motivational worker has an increasingly negative or indifferent attitude to the client. It is important that the motivational worker is aware of its existence and...
