Excerpt from Lincoln and Democracy: An Address Delivered at the Lincoln s Day Banquet of the Republican Club of New York on February 12, 1926, by James M. Beck, Late Solicitor General of the United States The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether. Lincoln was a great moralist. The dominant note of his address was the solemn dedication by the dead? Of the living to the unfinished task. He called upon the living generation and upon all successive generations to take a high resolve that the dead shall not have died in vain - that this nation under God shall have a new birth of freedom and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth.
