Dover Publications Inc., United States, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Reprint. Language: English . Brand New Book. A free-spirited young American attempts to extricate herself from a failed marriage to an aristocratic Frenchman in Edith Wharton s entertaining novella. Madame de Treymes, written in 1907, offers a concise perspective on the differences between American and French society from the vantage point of a master storyteller who is also an astute observer of European manners and customs. This compilation of Wharton s short fiction features three additional stories. Autres Temps . tells of a woman who fled New York society after the scandalous dissolution of her marriage but is compelled to return upon the occasion of her daughter s divorce and hasty remarriage. The Long Run centers on a businessman s failure to accept an offer of love that s accompanied by the risk of social stigma. In The Triumph of Night, a psychological thriller, a greedy uncle tries to appropriate a young relative s inheritance. These thought-provoking stories reflect their author s characteristic interest in the innate hypocrisy of society, generational conflicts, and challenges to moral courage.
